Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-6,9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ji et al(US 5,623,600).

Claim 1: Ji disclose identifying at a first node of a computer network, electronic files which require to be scanned for computer viruses in (fig.6C). Ji disclose initiating a dialogue between first node and second node of the network, the second node comprising a virus scanning application,during which dialogue the second node node identifies to the first node one or more portions of the electronic file required by the virus scanning application in (col.7,lines 51-67;fig.6C). Ji disclose transferring the identified portion(s) from the first node to the second node over the network and at the second node,scanning the transferred portions for computer viruses in (col.9,lines 1-13 and fig.6C).

Claim 2: Ji disclose identifying electronic file which require virus scanning,at a plurality of first nodes of the computer network and initiating a dialogue between the first nodes and the second node when appropriate in (fig.6C).

Claim 3: Ji disclose first node and the second node are located at respective different locations in the computer network in (col.3,lines 51-63).

Claim 4: Ji disclose first node is one of a database server, electronic mail server, Internet server, a proxy server or a firewall server in (col.2,lines 48-51).

Claim 5: Ji disclose dialogue is carried out using a network protocol carried by IP in (fig.4 and col.9,lines 1-13).

Claim 6: Ji disclose analyzing the file portions received at the second node to determine whether or not the file contains a virus or can not be guaranteed to not contain a virus and returning the result to the first node over the network in (fig.5A and col.9,lines 1-10).

Claim 9: Ji disclose a first computer having processing means arranged to identify electronic files which should be scanned for computer in (fig.2,6C). Ji disclose a second computer processing means arranged to perform a virus scanning operation in (col.7,lines 33-40). Ji disclose the first computer comprising communications means for initiating a dialogue between the first computer and the second computer during which the second computer identifies to the first computer those portions of the electronics files required by the first computer for performing the virus scanning operation and for transferring those portions to the second computer in (col.7,lines 51-67; col.9,lines 1-13 and fig.6C).

Claim 10: Ji disclose identify electronic files which require to be scanned for computer viruses in (fig.6C). Ji disclose initiate a dialogue between the first computer and a second computer also connected to the computer network in (col.7,lines 51-67 and fig.6C). Ji disclose receive from the second computer an identification of portions of the electronic file which are required for virus scanning of the electronic files at the second computer and transfer the identified portion from the first computer to the second computer in (fig.6B).

Claim 11: Ji disclose receive a dialogue initiation from a second computer also connected to a computer network to receive a dialogue initiation request from a second computer also connected to the computer network concerning an electronic file identified by the second computer as requiring a virus scan in (col.7,lines 51-67; col.9,lines 1-13 and fig.6C). Ji disclose identify to the second computer those portions of the electronic file which are required by the first mentioned computer for performing a virus scanning operation at the first computer and receive the identified portions of the electronic file from the second computer in (fig.6B).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ji et al.(US 5,623,600) in view of Chen et al.(US 5,832,208).

Claim 7: Ji does not specifically disclose transferring from the second node to the first node data portions to be written into the file to disinfect the file. Chen discloses this limitation in (fig.3). It would have been obvious to person of ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to disinfect the file as taught in Chen with virus detection system of Ji in order to prevent virus from infecting whole system.

3. Claims 8,12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ji et al.(US 5,623,600) in view of Nachenberg(US 6,067,410).

Claim 8: Ji does not specifically disclose sending instructions from the second node to the first node to inform the first node how to disinfect the file. Nachenberg disclose this limitation in (fig.1C and col.2,lines 55-67;col.3,lines 1-12). It would have been obvious to person of ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to send instructions on how to disinfect the file as taught in Nachenberg with virus scan system of Ji in order for recipient to properly clean disinfected file according to provider's method thus minimizing data error or data mishandling.

Claim 12: Ji disclose all the limitation. Ji does not disclose sending from the second node to the first node, data portions to be written into the infected file and /or instructions for disinfecting the file and receiving the data portions and/or instructions at the first node and writing the data portions into the infected file and/or carrying out instructions. Nachenberg's patent discloses this limitation in (fig. 1C and col. 2, lines 55-67; col. 3, lines 1-12). It would have been obvious to person of ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to send instructions on how to disinfect the file as taught in Nachenberg with virus scan system of Ji in order for recipient to properly clean disinfected file according to provider's method thus minimizing data error or data mishandling.

Claim 13: Ji disclose first and second nodes are respective computer workstations coupled to a common network in (fig. 7).

Claim 14: Ji disclose workstation corresponding to the second node is arranged to communicate with a plurality of workstations corresponding to respective nodes in (col. 1, lines 18-35).

Response to Applicant's Arguments

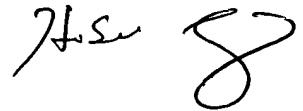

4. Claims 1-14 are pending. Previous grounds of rejection are withdrawn in view of Applicant's arguments in the Amendment filed 12/6/2004. However, newly discovered prior art has necessitated new grounds of rejection. The new grounds of rejection are presented above. The delay in citation of the newly discovered prior art is regretted.
